

Allocation of predictive signal across basis components

Open markers identify the first component count exceeding 99% of the exact discrete signal variance.